BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Exmoor Magazine is the quarterly publication for anyone who loves all things Exmoor. Popular with those who are local to Exmoor, North Devon, the Brendons and the Quantocks, it also has an enthusiastic subscriber base among people who have moved away, individuals who holiday on Exmoor or those who have family in the area and like to stay in touch with Exmoor life.

Established in 1997, the magazine is independently owned and run on Exmoor. Each 112-page issue is richly illustrated with around 200 colour photographs by local photographers which accompany in-depth features by its team of local writers.

The publication is features-led and tends to be kept for the long term, as testified by our sales of bespoke binders. Features cover topics such as food and farming, eating out, walking, flora and fauna, local characters, wellbeing, business news, the arts, equine, ecology, down memory lane, history, community, education, coast, interiors, exploring nature for children, country matters and sport. Exmoor Magazine subscriptions are popular as gifts year round.

“ I had a large spread of work on sale in Dulverton as a direct result of the feature and lots of comments which may well lead to sales in the long term. It is hard to say straight away because the magazine stays around for a long time and has an ongoing appeal and relevance. People hold on to it so the benefits lasts! I like its general permanence. I am certain that the feature will continue to do me good. Thank you so much. Many of my friends said how superb it was. ”

ARTWORK

We provide a FREE artwork service or you can of course provide your own. You may choose to repeat artwork or change with each issue, at no extra cost.

SUPPLIED ARTWORK

Should be saved as CMYK. Can be supplied as high-res PDFs, JPEG, TIFF or EPS (including preview data and fonts). We can also accept artwork in Quark Xpress, InDesign or Photoshop. Please include fonts and CMYK pictures at a resolution not less than 300dpi.

ARTWORK SERVICES

Artwork for your advertisement can be made up by our studio from materials that you supply. These should include good quality digital colour photos (JPEGs, PDFs or TIFFs at 300dpi), text as legible hard copy, Word or in an email, and, if required, a sketch of preferred layout. A colour proof will be supplied before going to print. We do not accept Publisher files, images placed in a Word document (please send them separately) or images taken from the internet (low resolution). If you have any queries please email: info@zaramedia.co.uk

NOT TO SCALE

POSITION

Advertisements are placed with relevant and fitting content and we sell advertisements into dedicated areas of the magazine. Advertisers are secured a requested position such as 'early right' or 'top of page', on a first-come, first-served basis. We are happy to answer any questions you may have about position prior to publication. Anecdotal feedback from advertisers suggests that the most effective approach is to maintain a similar position throughout your campaign.

“ I have just received the latest issue of Exmoor Magazine. Once again, I am so delighted with the very high quality of the editorial content. Superb photographs and great news interest. Well done to the team. This has to rate as one of the best magazines available today. ”

EXMOOR MAGAZINE

OUR TOP TEN, IN NO PARTICULAR ORDER...

WE ARE RIGHT FOR YOU IF:

Your target audience is local

We are local to the core – in both advertising and editorial content – our readers tell us they care strongly about this and like to support the businesses we feature. We cover Exmoor, North Devon and the Quantocks. More specifically, our editorial covers an area extending to the coast in the north, and, approximately, the Quantocks in the east, Appledore in the west and Crediton in the south.

You are looking for a high-end publication

Our well-established brand is a respected, high-end publication. Advertisers become a highly visible part of the Exmoor business community and our excellent copy reproduction ensures that your sales message is delivered to an exceptional standard.

You value something a little more personal

We are owned and produced on Exmoor. We take pride in the fact that being an independent business, rather than part of a chain, enables us to react swiftly to requests and feedback from readers and advertisers alike and we are always keen to consider joint marketing initiatives with the local business community.

You want your ad to appear alongside strong content

We have a strong team of writers, photographers and sales professionals. We are dedicated to providing a quality, bespoke service, tailored specifically to clients' needs, not a one-size-fits-all brand.

You will benefit by appealing to a wide demographic

Our appeal is widespread, with features reaching a wide male and female demographic of all ages, from children to grandparents. Our content ranges from locally-produced food, interiors and gardens, to leisure, health and local events to name but a few. We help you target your advertising accordingly and careful placement of promotions ensures the best response. We have many dedicated sections within the magazine and will work with you to place your advertisement in the most appropriate area.

You care where your money goes

We have a loyal network of retail outlets, many of which are sole traders. We are also sold in M&S, Waitrose and all of the local Co-ops. Combined with our healthy subscription figures, we are confident of reaching in excess of 20,000-25,000 readers per issue – all potential customers for you.

You are keen to reach a growing online audience

You are interested in reaching the fast-growing social media community via Instagram, Twitter, Facebook, and our website, including daily blogs, especially when you have an instant message to communicate.

You want the benefits of appearing in a paid-for magazine

One of the benefits of advertising in a paid-for magazine rather than a 'freebie' is that people do not discard it as readily and buy it because they want to read it.

You would like your ad to last

Being quarterly, the magazine enjoys a long shelf life. Many readers save their magazines and our binders and back issues are consistently popular. This means that your sales message lingers long after initial publication.

You have a modest budget

We have a number of advertising options for businesses on a small budget – with advertisements from as little as £35.

FREE TO ALL OF OUR ADVERTISERS

Access to our social media platforms – blog, Twitter and Facebook – via our editor, for your news stories and competitions. These platforms are updated approximately 12 times per week.

Option to request that we run a competition or promotion with you – online or in the magazine, as appropriate.

---

You may have a special event where it would be beneficial to have back copies of the magazine. We will work with you to make this possible where appropriate.

“ The magazine is a nice, easygoing read with lots of interesting features. It is important for the area to have a good local focus and that is what the publication is all about. ”
